

Living the Sweet Life:

Come Meet my Dream Team and Be Fabulous in 2012!

Well y'all, it's February again, and guess what? It's my birthday! Over the past few years, many of my readers and clients out in Sugar Land have asked me who do you use for this or that, and even more have asked how do you do all of that! LOL! I started thinking about what a wonderful way to share what I call my Dream Team and include you in 2012 happenings. I decided to throw a birthday party for me! Well, it's really for you, though, because as I contacted all of my posse, every single one of them were eager to meet my readers, share what they do and offer all sorts of free goodies to you for attending!

I have gathered my Dream Team: they are all professionals that range from fitness and beauty to medical doctors and business builders ... from those that lift my spirits and even my chest line! Each one of these wonderful friends and colleagues continues to improve my life, and I want to introduce you to them. I also want you to visit my studio. I have been shooting for years in our community and began painting again last year. Many of you read the column each month, and every one of you needs portraits of your family or commissioned art for your home. There are countless clients that first found me as a reader of this column and then, picked up the phone and called me for a session. I want to become your portrait artist, and I want you to meet me and see the work that I have dedicated my life to creating.

I am excited because this year is going to be amazing! Throughout this year, I am challenging myself to be the best me I can be in all areas. I am working out, I am allowing for down time to just think and be a mother, and I am grateful. I want to share that journey with each of you and allow you to share with me your experiences as well. Throughout this year, I will be inviting you to events and lectures that will inspire you and help you develop yourself.

In addition, I will be hosting my own show on YouTube and featuring a blog that documents my work. I will be hosting a series of lectures in our Montrose studio and our home studio in Sugar Land that offer opportunities for you to create your Sweet Life in 2012! There will be art shows and coffee talks where we gather to intimately discuss marketing and business strategies, and I will assist you in developing the best you!

The party is where it all begins on February 24 from 2:00 until 6:00 pm at my home studio. Please call 713-598-2207 or Facebook me, Alisa Murray, and let me know you will be attending. There are over $1000 worth of fabulous items in swag bags for every attendee in addition to door prizes that are over the top!
